The supreme biking experience known as Daytona Bike Week (March 8-17) began with racing motorcycles on the beach back in 1937; the inaugural running of the Daytona 200. Since then, the event has grown to become biker heaven on earth where sun, sand, bikes, babes, and beer rule for ten glorious days.

This year marked the 72nd annual pilgrimage to Florida for this Run to the Sun. The temps were a mixed bag, with highs ranging from 63 to 85 degrees during the rally, still offering the best escape from winter a scooter tramp could hope for.

From the mighty Destination Daytona complex that housed quality aftermarket vendors, to The Last Resort and the Cabbage Patch with their old-school biker good times, there was truly something for every rider. Favorite watering holes of the two-wheeled masses still include the Iron Horse, the Broken Spoke, the Boot Hill Saloon, Froggy's, Gilly's Pub 44, and Smiley's Tap.

There are a million things to see and do during this rally, from races at the Speedway and ride-in bike shows at the Rat's Hole, Boardwalk and Willie's Tropical Tattoos, to test rides, live concerts, and girls in bikinis on the beach. Riding along A1A with thousands of like-minded souls or just hanging out with friends are always two of the most enjoyable pursuits.

If you enjoy Michael Lichter's photographic memories of this year's Daytona, head on over to www.easyriders.com to check out our digital edition where you'll find some wild ass video of this year's Run to the Sun.
